
NEWS RELEASE

652 Willard Ave. Newington, Ct. 06111

Students to Hold "Living Wax Museum"

For Immediate Release

February 10, 2009

Please contact:

Leni Callas-Wrobel
Development Coordinator
(860) 666-3844 x-17
(860) 666-5570 fax
leni@sms.necoxmail.com

NEWINGTON - Saint Mary School's 5th Grade Students will hold a "Living Wax Museum" on Thursday, February 12, 2009 from 1:00 to 2:00 p.m. in the Saint Mary School gymnasium, 652 Willard Avenue, Newington. In honor of President's Day and Lincoln's 200th Birthday, seventeen students will dress as their favorite president and present interesting facts of their respective president when visitors approach their kiosk. Mrs. Natale Barrett, 5th Grade Social Studies teacher says "The kids have even come up with several facts that I was unaware of."

In addition to the "Living Wax Museum", the Kindergarten classroom has set up a display of their 100 Day projects. Each student was asked to submit a piece of artwork using 100 pieces of anything of their choosing. The collection is quite creative ranging from a porcupine with 100 toothpicks, courtesy of Newington's own Brian Russell and a collection of 100 fish from Keegan McMahon. These events are open to the public and there are no charges for admittance.

Saint Mary School has been providing Newington's community with a strong quality Catholic education alternative since 1958. It continues to be a center for faith formation, high academic achievement and development of the whole child. For additional information about these programs or Saint Mary School, please call (860) 666-3844.

#####